We will protect the privacy of the health information that we maintain that identifies you, whether it deals with the provision or payment of your health care. We must provide you with this Notice about our privacy practices. It explains how, when, and why we may use and disclose your health information. With some exceptions, we will avoid using or disclosing any more of your health information than is necessary to accomplish the purpose of the use of disclosure. We are legally required to follow the privacy practices that are described in this Notice, which is currently in effect.

However, we reserve the right to change the terms of this Notice and our privacy practices at any time. Any changes will apply to any of your health information that we already have. Before we make an important change to our policies, we will promptly change this Notice and post a new Notice in our reception area. You may also request a copy of our Notice of Privacy Practices from our Privacy Officer, the Vice President & Quality & Effectiveness. An electronic copy of this Notice will remain available on this web site.

We would like to take this opportunity to answer some common questions concerning our privacy practices:

Question: How will this organization use and disclose my protected health information?

Answer: We use and disclose health information for many different reasons. For some of these uses of disclosures, we need your specific authorization. Below (A through D), we describe the different categories of our uses and disclosures and give you some examples of each.

A. Uses and Disclosures Relating to Treatment, Payment, or Healthcare Operations. By federal law, we may use and disclose your health information for the following reasons:

1. For Treatment: For example, we may disclose your medical history to a hospital if you need medical attention while at our facility, or to a residential care program we are referring you to. Reasons for such a disclosure may be: to get them the medical history information they need to appropriately treat your condition, to coordinate your care, or to schedule necessary testing. With the possible exception of information concerning drug and alcohol abuse and/or treatment, and HIV status (for which we may need your specific authorization), we may disclose your health information to other health care providers who are involved in your care.

2. To Obtain Payment for Treatment: For example, we may provide certain portions of your health information to your health insurance company, Medicare or Medicaid, or the Office of Family & Children in order to get paid for services provided to you. We may use and disclose necessary health information in order to bill and collect payment for the treatment that we have provided to you. We need your specific authorization for sharing information concerning HIV status, drug and alcohol abuse and/or treatment.

3. For Health Care Business Operations: At times, we may need to use and disclose your health information to run our organization. For example, we may use your health information to evaluate the quality of the treatment that our staff has provided to you. We may also need to provide some of your health information to our accountants, attorneys, and consultants in order to make sure that we're complying with law. Because this information concerns mental health disorders and/or treatment, drug and alcohol abuse and/or treatment, and/or HIV status, we may be further limited in what we provide and may be required to first obtain your authorization.

4. Other: Occasionally we have visitors touring our facilities in consideration of services to be provided. No individually identifiable health information will be disclosed.

B. Certain Other Uses and Disclosures are Permitted by Federal Law. We may use and disclose your health information without your authorization for the following reasons:

1. When a Disclosure is Required by Federal, State, or Local Law, in Judicial or Administrative Proceedings, or by Law Enforcement. For example, we may disclose your protected health information if we are ordered by a court, or if a law requires that we report certain information to a government agency or law enforcement authorities, such as suspected child abuse.

2. For Public Health Activities. Under the law, we need to report information about certain diseases and about any deaths to government agencies that collect that information. With the possible exception of information concerning HIV status (for which we may need your specific authorization), we are also permitted to provide some health information to the coroner or a funeral director, if necessary, after a client's death.

3. For Health Oversight Activities. We may need to provide your health information to the County and/or the State when they oversee the program in which you receive care. We will also need to provide information to government agencies that have the right to inspect our offices and/or investigate healthcare practices.

4. For Organ Donation. If one of our clients wished to make an eye, organ, or tissue donation after their death, we may disclose certain necessary health information to assist the appropriate organ procurement organization.

5. For Research Purposes. In certain limited circumstances (for example, where approved by an appropriate Privacy Board or Institutional Review Board under federal law), we may be permitted to use or provide protected health information for a research study.

6. To Avoid Harm. If one of our staff members believes that it is necessary to protect you, or to protect another person or the public as a whole, we may provide protected health information to the police or others who may be able to prevent or lessen the possible harm.

7. For Specific Government Functions. Similarly, with the possible exception of information concerning drug and alcohol abuse and/or treatment, and HIV status (for which we may need your specific authorization), we may also disclose a client's health information for national security purposes. We may disclose the health information of military personnel or veterans where required by U.S. military authorities

8. For Workers' Compensation. We may provide your health information as described under the workers' compensation law, if your condition was the result of a workplace injury for which you are seeking worker's compensation.

9. Appointment Reminders and Health-Related Benefits or Services. Unless you tell us that you would prefer not to receive them, we may use or disclose your information to provide you with appointment reminders, follow-up, or alternative services that may help you.

10. Fundraising or Marketing Activities. For example, if our Organization chose to raise funds to support one or more of our programs or facilities, we may use the information that we have about you to contact you. You may be asked to share your story, make a donation, or help in some other way. Your participation would be voluntary. If you do not wish to be contacted as part of any fundraising or marketing activities, please contact the Vice President & Development.

2. Disclosures to Notify a Family Member, Friend, or Other Selected Person. When you first started in our program, we ask that you provide us with an emergency contact person in case something should happen to you while you are under our care. (For example, should you need to be admitted to the hospital.)

D. Other Uses and Disclosures Require Your Prior Written Authorization. In situations other than those categories of uses and disclosures mentioned above, or those disclosures permitted under federal law, we will ask for your written authorization before using or disclosing any of your protected health information.

If you choose to sign an authorization to disclose any of your health information, you can later revoke it to stop further uses and disclosures to the extent that we haven't already taken action relying on the authorization, as long as it is revoked in writing.
